GRADUATE LINGUISTICS SOCIETY

The Graduate Linguistics Society is growing, and we are excited to introduce our new members that were elected last spring. We will vote on our new treasurer next meeting.

Our Thursday Seminar Coordinators, Pamir Gogoi and Aleksandra Tomic, will invite interesting speakers to share their research with us this semester. They are eager for our input, so please email them with any suggestions of possible speakers. Our first Thursday Seminar will be on September 7th in the Florida Gym room 28 at 4:05 featuring Dr. Plato Smith. Dr. Smith is the Data Management Librarian at UF. He will discuss his work and how it can benefit our research.

GLS has many goals this upcoming year including creating new linguistics apparel to sell, hosting more events and creating an environment that allows students to grow both academically and professionally. Feel free to email suggestions for social events to Adriana Ojeda. Josh Martin has graciously offered to host a social event, such as a potluck, at his home every other Monday starting on 9/11. Be on the lookout for an email for more information. Check out important dates below to stay informed this semester.

Welcome back, everyone! Go Gators!
